'Albany International' Factory Tour @ East Greenbush Facility

Albany International is the world's largest producer of custom-designed engineered fabrics called paper machine clothing (PMC). These consumable fabrics are used to manufacture all grades of paper from lightweight tissue to containerboard, and are manufactured from monofilaments, multifilaments, and other synthetic materials.

Building on this core competency, Albany International has developed complementary technologies that allow for strategic diversification and growth opportunities beyond the paper and paperboard markets. These business segments include Albany Door Systems and Applied Technologies.

In 2005, the company celebrates 110 years of service to our customers. With headquarters in Albany, New York, Albany International employs approximately 5,700 employees.

Vision

We want Albany International to be the Company of Choice that delivers value for our Shareholders, Customers, Employees, and Suppliers.

Mission

Albany International's mission is to supply the global paper and paperboard industry, as well as other process industries, with leading advanced materials and structural technologies, yielding attractive returns to our shareholders, exceptional value to our customers, outstanding opportunities for our employees, and mutually rewarding relationships with our suppliers.

Introducing APICS Certified Supply Chain Professional

APICS brings you the Certified Supply Chain Professional (CSCP), the first comprehensive supply chain management educational program. Designed for operations and supply chain management professionals, this new designation comes in response to the rapidly changing educational needs in the field of supply chain management.

"The APICS CSCP designation will equip today's professionals with the credentials to improve their company's competitive success and their own professional advancement," said Thomas J. Krupka, CFPIM, Jonah, APICS president. "The new CSCP designation reflects the expanding role supply chain management plays in today's increasingly competitive global marketplace."

The CSCP program takes a broad view of the field, extending beyond internal operations to encompass all the steps throughout the supply chain—from the supplier, through the company, to the end consumer—and provides you with the knowledge to effectively manage the integration of these activities to maximize a company's value chain.

To help candidates prepare for the CSCP exam, APICS has developed the CSCP Learning System. The learning system is a comprehensive course based on the CSCP body of knowledge and is organized into four learning modules: Supply Chain Management Fundamentals; Building Competitive Operations, Planning, and Logistics; Managing Customer and Supplier Relationships; and Using Information Technology to Enable Supply Chain Management.

The APICS CSCP Learning System combines print materials with interactive online tools to deliver a customized experience. The course will be offered in three learning options—self-directed, instructor-led, or corporate group. APICS is currently offering the self-directed materials. Instructor-led courses will be offered through the APICS network of local chapters, colleges and universities, and corporations beginning in the second quarter of 2006.

For more information on the CSCP program, visit www.apics.org/CSCP.
